Missing: Has anyone seen this child?

This a story about choices. The choices individuals are compelled to make as they grow through life. Fifteen years ago, a boy was abducted when he was two and despite searching by authorities he was never found. Now, years later, a mother receives a phone call asking her if she would be willing to take custody of her missing son who is 17. He is in juvenile detention and about to be paroled but only if she is willing to take custody. Lana has remarried and has two stepdaughters. Despite many mixed emotions she brings her son home. Conflict soon occurs when a step-daughter finds a scrap of paper with the phone number of her new brothers father, the so-called abductor. Her life is further complicated when Lana learns that her manic father had set up a series of events that caused the grounds for her divorce and the loss of her son. A liaison between Lana and her sons father effects feelings of guilt and confusion. Should she follow her heart or stay with her current husband and honor her responsibility to the girls shes mothered since their infancy?
