

The Octopus Rises

This is a collection of literary prose short fiction stories about the end of Bert and Ernie's relationship, about robot love, a town who shares a heart, and much more from an up-and-coming Seattle author. Man, I had so many stab wounds, it was crazy. There I was at the conference center, and I hadn't even adequately prepared my presentation. And so begins Bleeding Man and Wounded Deer, one of the stories in this collection of literary short fiction from the pen of acclaimed Seattle novelist Ryan Boudinot. Bouncing between experimental fiction, absurdist farce, paranoid futurism, and stinging satire, Boudinot's funny, inventive prose lays bare the hopes and anxieties of our age. From a heartbreaking and pitch-perfect account of the end of Bert and Ernie's relationship, to a story about lovelorn robots looking for a chop-shop owner who's willing to look the other way in a world where robot sex is illegal, to a Miyazaki-esque story about an entire town that shares the same heart, Boudinot's prose crackles with acerbic wit. Also featuring: Chopsticks (the protagonist's cat who develops a hard drug problem); An Essay and a Story about Motley Crue (wish-fulfillment disguised as memoir); I Used to Be a Plastic Bottle!; and The Guy Who Kept Meeting Himself.
